SERVICES — PRIVATE EQUITY

Capital-development positions in established businesses

Our private equity activity is aimed at mature, established businesses, typically through larger stakes or full ownership positions built around a defined value-creation thesis.

Where private equity fits

Private Equity sits at the more mature end of the growth-financing spectrum we operate across, alongside Venture Capital and Development Capital. It typically involves majority or full-buyout positions in businesses that are already operating at scale, rather than minority growth stakes.

How we think about control

Because these positions often carry full or majority control, we expect to be closely involved in governance and, where relevant, in the operational direction of the business, working alongside existing management rather than replacing the judgment that built the company.

Our approach

As with our other activities, private equity positions are held as principal, under our own governance. This means the pace and structure of a transaction can be shaped by what the situation actually requires, rather than by an external fund cycle.

What we look for

- A business with a proven, durable operating model.
- A clear rationale for the transaction — an ownership transition, a restructuring, or a strategic repositioning.
- Management or a plan for management capable of executing the value-creation thesis.

This document describes our general approach to private equity. It does not disclose or refer to any specific transaction, counterparty, or holding.
